

Monday, September 28, 2020

What are your goals for retirement? Let us help you plan for all of them!
(Mindful Monday)

If you have been impacted by COVID-19, delaying retirement could help. How long do you need to delay retirement in light of COVID-19? The average answer was about 3.3 years for those surveyed, but it could be shorter or longer for you. It depends on how much COVID-19 has affected your finances and your mindset about how much you need to save for retirement. Here's what you need to know to decide if delaying retirement is right for you and how long you should delay to ensure a secure retirement.

(Source: Fool)

<https://www.fool.com/retirement/2020/09/13/how-long-should-i-delay-my-retirement/>